I got a disturbing email from someone not to long ago about it looks like I just teach people how to wholesale houses and I'm not actually out here doing it myself. I don't just sit around all day on the internet blogging and vlogging I started to hit the reply button to give this individual a piece of my mind.

I had to really think about it for a moment before I responded. There is no better way to fight negativity than taking action. So I decided to release these videos on how my typical day usually goes and how I feel about Guru's and Doru's.
