Jen hasn't given up yet during the 30 day wholesale deal challenge. See that's the thing about finding motivated sellers you can use different tactics to get these sellers to practically hand their properties over to you. Jen started calling a bunch of angry landlords and ended up finding someone who wanted to unload their entire portfolio.

I caught this all on tape check it out:

Take Care,

Marcel

P.S. Folks their are landlords all over the country that are having problems with their tenants and rental properties due to the affects of the RECESSION!
